

Lead researcher: Professor Kim Fortun | Director, EcoGovLab | Dept of Anthropology | kfortun@uci.edu | 518.727.1244

You are being asked to participate in a social science study of environmental injustice and governance affiliated with the Environmental Injustice Global Record project, hosted by UCI's EcoGovLab and the Disaster-STN Network. Participation is completely voluntary and will not be compensated.

Researchers involved in this study will collect interviews with people who have been involved in environmental governance through work in government agencies, community-based organizations, environmental advocacy organizations, environment-focused media, and scientific research. Interviewees will be asked questions about the roles they have played in environmental governance, and about their vision for improved environmental governance. Study researchers will also collect and analyze documentation related to environmental governance (including government and community reports, photographs and video, etc). Below, study participants can indicate how they want their interviews and the documentation they provide to be preserved, and if they want their names associated with these materials. Data collected for the study will be archived and analyzed in virtual research environments at <https://disaster-stn-network.org/> and <https://theasthmafiles.org/>.

In an interview for this study on this date July 28, 2023, you agree

- | | |
|--|--|
| • to be audiotaped | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to be videotaped | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to have excerpts from the interview quoted in oral presentations and written publications | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to have the recording of your interview archived in a manner only accessible to the research team | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to have the recording of your interview digitally archived in a manner that is fully publicly accessible | No <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to have the recording of your interview preserved indefinitely in a research repository | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • to have your name associated with your interview recording and quotations from it. | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |

You may also want to provide the research team with documentation that conveys your experiences and perspectives. In sharing this documentation, you agree:

- | | |
|---|---|
| • for copies to be preserved and used by the research team | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • for copies to be preserved indefinitely in a digitally accessible research repository | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • for your name to be associated with the documentation that you provide | No <input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> |
| • that the documentation you have shared can be described as follows: | |

During and after an interview, you can:

- ask that the recording be turned off at any time.
- designate any comments as "off the record" (these comments will then be deleted from any recordings of the interview)
- ask for all or parts of interview recordings to be taken out of the data set that is analyzed and quoted
- ask for all or parts of interview recordings to be taken out of publicly accessible research repositories
- ask for all or parts of interview recording, and associate notes, to be destroyed
- ask for your interview data or personal identifiers to be removed from the study's data set, knowing that we will not be able to retract anything that is already in press or in at the time you submit a retraction request.
- ask for additional conditions, and have listed these below:

Your signature below indicates that the options listed above have been explained to you, and that the completed form accurately indicates your selections.

Frank Bejarano
 Research subject's signature

Frank Bejarano
 Printed name

7/28/2023
 Date

James Adams
 Researchers signature

James Adams
 Printed name

7/28/2023
 Date